Tuesday, March 27, 7:00 p.m., YCPC . . .

Concert by Central Coast Chorale. Here's what the Chorale website says about their upcoming concert:

Please join us for our March concert series, Requiemix. The concert repertoire blends portions of requiem masses from throughout the history of Western sacred music . . . from Medieval chant through the works of noted contemporary composers including Andrew Lloyd Weber and Eric Whitacre.

Requiemix offers a rare opportunity to hear in a single concert interpretations of the Requiem Mass, or Mass for the Departed, spanning centuries.

Volume 2 of the March Newsletter . . . aka, March 2018 - A Few EXTRAS

Volume 1 of the March Newsletter said, "There will be a Volume 2 of the March Newsletter" and then went on to say that Volume 2 would include information or articles about the below-listed topics. Well, time has gone by too quickly to include everything, so here is an update on the list:

- ◆ Easter Sunday (April 1) DONE. See page 1.
- ◆ YCPC's participation in the monthly dinners for the homeless at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Newport TO BE DONE WITH PICTURES IN APRIL Meantime, FYI, Michelle Korgan took the lead in organizing/preparing the March meal. More about everyone else who participated in April.
- ◆ A brief history of The Fabricators . . . TO BE DONE IN APRIL. I need to contact former YCPC member and Fabricator Alice Laurick.
- ◆ Who created this banner for the sanctuary . . .

This banner was created by Robbie Schoonover at the request of Lavonne Koon. Lavonne was a member of YCPC for several years. Records indicate that Lavonne moved to back to Alaska in 2004 and commissioned Robbie to create the banner after moving. Thankfully, there is a file in the church office, "Banners and Paraments" that provides a history of the YCPC banners and paraments through 2011. Thanks to everyone who worked on that history/inventory!

That's all for now. jmj
